GLEN ECHO POPULAR

The crowds which throng Glen Echo these weeks are convincing testimony of the popularity of this beautiful resort up the Potomac, where the air is clear and cool and the breezes are constantly on the job.

The name Glen Echo has a refreshing ring. It suggests shady dells and wooded hills, an oasis within easy reach of all purses and within but a short distance of all sections of the city.

Glen Echo is an ideal all-day amusement and picnic park as well as the most popular place to spend the evening amidst delightful surroundings.

Perhaps the most unique feature at the park is the playground for children. The picnic grounds is another important feature. This section of the big park has been called the "National Capital's Picnic Grounds," because 70 per cent of the Sunday schools in the city hold their annual picnics there.

The best of water, the most roomy of tables and benches, and the pleasant nooks where a little party or big ones can seclude themselves and enjoy a lunch in the open in semi-privacy, if they like.

The big Ferris wheel is constantly filled. It is a wonderful experience to make the trip to the wheel and from the highest point in its turning view along the city of Washington stretched along the Potomac Valley. At night the city is made beautiful by the thousands of lights.

A favorite amusement is the "Ride Among the Trees," as the gravity railroad has been called. It takes an unusual route and gives the patron an experience. Near by is the gyroscope. The variety of thrills to be obtained in a ride on the gyroscope cannot be described—they must be experienced—it goes every which way. Then there are carousals of the newest type, chutes, slides, mirrors that reflect the human roulette wheel and all sorts of things of this sort, most of them being absolutely free of charge to the patrons of the park, and the big midway of fun and frolic.

The big motion picture theater just installed invites the visitor to rest and be amused at the same time. The moving pictures shown are the best that can be obtained and the exhibitions are free of charge and are shown in the open air.

For those to whom the water has a strong appeal, a boat house has been provided, where canoes and rowboats can be had at small cost and the placid water of the canal with overhanging trees making it delightfully cool are a veritable water "Lovers' Lane."

All these features have been added to the series of hand concerts by the Soldiers' Home Band, under the direction of Leader Zimmerman.

Chesapeake Beach Drawing Big Crowds.

This season of the year finds popular Chesapeake Beach a veritable mecca for pleasure and comfort seekers who throng there in great numbers to enjoy the cooling breezes, the salt water bathing, and the crab and trout fishing.

Right at the present time goodly catches of sea trout are reported daily, and crabs by the scores are taken from the waters. In fact, the crab season is at its height, and lovers of the crustacean delicacies are finding good sport with very little effort.

The cool, inviting salt water at this beach where no undertow exists is especially popular now that the torrid weather has set in, and the proximity of Chesapeake Beach to Washington enables lovers of salt water bathing to enjoy this pleasure daily.

Chesapeake Beach boasts of one of the largest dancing pavilions, with excellent floor, as well as the best dance music procurable, and the delights of dancing are enhanced by the cooling breezes which always blow.

Frequent train service, as shown in the accompanying announcement on this page, permit of conveniently reaching this popular resort at all hours of the day and evening, and the quickness of the trip makes it possible to spend more time at the shore.

During the past week more than 5,000 large bags of crabs have been caught from the new South Pier and shipped by excursionists to Washington.

Excellent hotel accommodations are to be had, and special rates are provided for week-end trips. The cafe service is unexcelled; in fact, diners are just about half that charged by first-class hotels in the city.

The low price of the trip and the many things which make for comfort and pleasure make Chesapeake Beach an ideal summer resort for Washingtonians.

The corner stone of the new Northeast Masonic Temple, at Eighth and F streets northeast, will be laid this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock by John Newton, grand master of Masons in the District of Columbia, assisted by other officers of the Grand Lodge. The oration will be delivered by Representative Martin A. Morrison, grand master of Masons of Indiana, and if his duties in the Senate will permit, Vice President Marshall will also deliver an address.

The temple is being erected at a cost of about $25,000 and is designed principally as a meeting place for Myron M. Parker Lodge, No. 27; Capitol Royal Arch Chapter, No. 11; and Bethlehem Chapter, No. 7, Order of the Eastern Star.

Ground work and a binding material have been formed by a French inventor into a cover for bottles that guards them against breakage and keeps their contents at a uniform temperature without using a vacuum.

MORE MARINES FOR HAITI.

Navy Department on Alert to Intervene at Signal.

The fruitless fighting between rebels and government forces in Haiti and Santo Domingo continues without definite result to any of the contenders, according to advices received at the Navy Department yesterday.

The chief points of conflict at present are Cape Haitien, Haiti, and Puerto Plata, Santo Domingo. The Haitian rebels are besieging Cape Haitien, while the Dominican rebels are in possession of Puerto Plata.

Though there is no doubt in the minds of officials here of the ultimate necessity of the United States taking charge of the situation in both republics, there is as yet no indication of when the moment of action will come. With the arrival at Guantanamo of 400 additional marines, who will sail from Hampton Roads today, the navy will be ready to execute any movement into Haiti or Santo Domingo, which the State Department may decide upon.

Suit for $10,000 was filed in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Rappold D. Moran against Eugene Young and Morris Simon to recover for personal injuries. The plaintiff's attorneys are Edward A. Newman and O. Lettich Sinclair.

Suit for absolute divorce was filed by Maggie M. Sampson against Amos Sampson, a painter. The wife alleges desertion. David M. Wolf is Mrs. Sampson's attorney.

An annulment proceeding was begun by Edmund W. McLaren against Delphine E. McLaren. The wife is charged with misconduct prior to the marriage. W. A. Combe is the husband's attorney.

EXPECT MEXICAN ARMISTICE.

Conference Between Opposing Factions Regarded with Optimism.

There was further optimism with regard to Mexico in official quarters here yesterday, and the administration is now well pleased with the prospects for a peaceful arrangement between the various elements. At the conference at Tampico between Carranza and President Carranza's representatives it is expected that an armistice will be proclaimed early next week, while officials have reason to believe Carranza will grant Carbajal's request for a proclamation of amnesty with respect to political offenders and for the federal officers and soldiers, and will give satisfactory guarantees as to the protection of property in Mexico City and elsewhere, with particular reference to the rights of the clergy and their properties.

Indirect communication has been had with Zapata will not make any serious trouble for the present. Further assurances were also received yesterday unofficially regarding Villa's attitude.

Jose Castellon, Carbajal's Washington representative, went to New York yesterday. It is presumed he will get in touch with the Huerta delegates to the Niagara conference, who are still in New York.

MONUMENTAL TASK FOR TENNIS CUP DEFENDERS

WALTER CRAMP.

New York, July 24.—The events of the past few weeks show very clearly that our Davis cup defenders, to be picked next week, have a monumental task before them, says Walter Cramp, the noted sporting expert. "Brookes and Wilding, of the English team, are the men to be most feared by our players."

"FANCIES" CAUSE DIVORCE SUIT

Rides with Other Women Charged by Mrs. G. P. Foster.

Alleged "fancies," which his wife says he refused to give up, figure in a suit for absolute divorce filed yesterday in the District Supreme Court against George P. Foster and several co-defendants by May Hammond Foster. In the bill, filed through Attorney Malcolm Hufty, the wife says her husband came home around 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning in a carriage with other women and that when she remonstrated with him he replied "he had fancies and would not give them up."

The husband is alleged to be in Havana, Cuba, now, and one of the co-respondents Christina Tino, is said to be in the same city. The defendant is said to have an income of $5,000 a year, besides a large sum of cash in banks.

The Fosters were married here in November, 1913, and the wife says she was compelled to leave her husband on February 12, 1914. She also asks the custody of their only child.

At the meeting George H. Rucker, chairman of the Alexandria County board of supervisors, and Crandal Mackey, Commonwealth's attorney for Alexandria County, appeared for the county, while the government was represented by Vernon N. Peirce, chief engineer; H. S. Fairbanks, and Assistant Solicitor Boyle.

ON THE GREAT WHITE WAY.

By O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, July 24.—Oscar Hammerstein—the man who put the hop in opera—was the innocent cause of a thin young female from the West falling out of a rubberneck wagon the other day while passing the Victoria Theater. The announcer was calling out the different sights when he happened to spy Oscar entering his theater by his own private entrance. "Oh—oh, yes, yes," he said, "there goes the celebrated Oscar."

It was then the woman, in stretching to look, did a high dive to the street, and was carried into a drug store before she was revived. She refused her name. It is no wonder, however, that Oscar is such a curiosity. He is the man who wrote, on a wager, an opera in twenty-four hours, while the man who bet against him ground a hand organ under the window. He also took a cow up the elevator of the Victoria, once, and was chased by the indignant bovine all over the garden. We say he did all of these things—but it may be that he has one of those vile and unkempt creatures called a press agent.

There is a quiver in Fourteenth street. Some of the Tammany Hall chieftains find that their knees are knocking together like castanets, and as hard as they try to smile—the smile simply won't stick. The cause is the message flashed from Dublin that Croker is coming back. The news was announced by Harry W. Walker, for years the mouthpiece of

FRANK FARENKAMP, Proprietor.

Crocker and one of the best posted men in New York City, the Tammany Hall chieftain, turned and looked Mr. Case over coldly and walked away. Later Mr. Case heard that he was not going to be "kidded by a smart Alex," and that the man pointed out was a priest. The point is that Mr. Belasco always wears clerical garb as a matter of sentiment. When a young man in a monk in a monastery took a great interest in him and for years Mr. Belasco made his home there.
